

Institute of Orthodox Theology

As one of Europe's leading research universities, Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität (LMU) in Munich is committed to the highest international standards of excellence in research and teaching. Building on its more than 500-year-long tradition, it offers a broad spectrum that covers all areas of knowledge within its 18 Faculties, ranging from the humanities, law, economics and social sciences, to medicine and the natural sciences.

The Institute for Orthodox Theology invites applications for a

Full Professorship (W3) of Systematic Theology
(Dogmatics, Ethics, and Ecumenical Theology)
(Chair)

commencing on 1 October 2022.

The applicant should represent Systematic Theology in research and teaching in its entire breadth. A main focus on Systematic Orthodox Theology (Dogmatic Theology and Ethics), as proven through publications, is expected, as well as an additional focus on Interdisciplinary Ecumenical Theology. It is also expected that this professorship will closely cooperate with LMU's Center for Ecumenical Research (ZÖF).

Prerequisites for this position are a university degree in Orthodox Theology, a doctoral degree or a comparable specific qualification in Orthodox Theology, teaching skills at university level, excellent academic achievements and a productive and promising research program. Good knowledge of German is required.

LMU Munich makes a point of providing newly appointed professors with various types of support, such as welcoming services and assistance for dual career couples.

LMU Munich is an equal opportunity employer. The University continues to be very successful in increasing the number of female faculty members and strongly encourages applications from female candidates. LMU Munich intends to enhance the diversity of its faculty members. Furthermore, disabled candidates with essentially equal qualifications will be given preference.

Please submit your application comprising a curriculum vitae, documentation of academic degrees and certificates as well as a list of publications to the Chairman of the Joint Commission of the Institute for Orthodox Theology, Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München, Ludwigstr. 29, 80539 Munich, Germany, no later than 20 September 2021.
